1. Claude Sonnet 5.5 now available on AI Gateway

The Vercel changelog says Claude Sonnet 5.5 now available on AI Gateway.

Evidence: Claude Sonnet 5.5 from Anthropic is now available on AI Gateway as anthropic/claude-sonnet-5.5.

Impact: Teams can evaluate the documented Anthropic workflow before wider rollout.

Watch next: watch availability, limits, and real usage.

2. AWS: Grok 4.7 is now available on Amazon Bedrock

xAI's Grok 4.7 is now available on Amazon Bedrock.

Evidence: It offers a 500K token context window and supports configurable reasoning effort at four levels: low, medium, high, and xhigh.

Impact: Teams can evaluate the documented AWS workflow before wider rollout.

Watch next: watch availability, limits, and real usage for AWS.

3. Introducing cf: the agentic CLI for the entire Cloudflare API

Cloudflare says its new command line tool, cf, lets agents find commands through search and steering. Its default interface is JSON.

Evidence: Earlier in the year we teased how we were planning to solve this and today, we’re enabling agents to use every Cloudflare product by introducing a new CLI: cf.

Impact: Teams can evaluate the documented Cloudflare workflow before wider rollout.

Watch next: watch docs, endpoint access, and developer limits.

4. Generate images and video with vLLM-Omni on SageMaker AI - Part 2

The AWS vLLM-Omni DLC packages tracked vLLM-Omni releases and adds routing middleware for SageMaker AI.

Evidence: vLLM-Omni extends vLLM beyond text generation to models that process or generate text, audio, images, and video through OpenAI-compatible APIs.

Impact: Teams can evaluate the documented AWS workflow before wider rollout.

Watch next: watch availability, limits, and real usage for AWS.

5. The road to the agentic browser: A Kitesurf update

Cloudflare's Kitesurf update adds WebMCP support, so agents can call site functions instead of simulating clicks.

Evidence: WebMCP helps by allowing developers to expose site functionality directly to agents, where they can call functions like searchFlights() instead of simulating clicks.

Impact: Teams can evaluate the documented Cloudflare workflow before wider rollout.

Watch next: Watch the Cloudflare release for patch notes and rollout issues.

AI Daily

This is AI Daily. Today we cover 5 source-verified developments, explain what changed, and show the primary evidence behind every story.

Vercel says its AI Gateway now offers Anthropic's Sonnet 5.5 model.

Vercel's changelog lists the Anthropic model Sonnet 5.5 as available through AI Gateway under its model identifier.

xAI's Grok 4.7 is now available on Amazon Bedrock.

It offers a 500K token context window and four configurable reasoning effort levels. The Amazon Bedrock article announces that Grok 4.7 is now available on Amazon Bedrock. The first displayed paragraph says this adds a frontier model to the Bedrock catalog. It names coding, long-running agents, and knowledge work as the model's intended tasks.

Cloudflare says its new command line tool, cf, lets agents find commands through search and steering. Its default interface is JSON.

The Cloudflare article is titled Introducing cf: the agentic CLI for the entire Cloudflare API. Earlier in the year we teased how we were planning to solve this and today, we’re enabling agents to use every Cloudflare product by introducing a new CLI: cf.

The AWS vLLM-Omni DLC packages tracked vLLM-Omni releases and adds routing middleware for SageMaker AI.

The AWS Machine Learning Blog labels this article Part 2 of its guide to generating images and video on SageMaker AI. The displayed excerpt says a text prompt first becomes an image. It then describes animating that image into a short video on Amazon SageMaker AI.

Cloudflare's Kitesurf update adds WebMCP support, so agents can call site functions instead of simulating clicks.

WebMCP lets developers expose site functions to agents. Agents can call a flight search function instead of simulating clicks.

Cloudflare AI Blog says The road to the agentic browser: A Kitesurf update. In August, we introduced Kitesurf, a browser for the agentic age that runs entirely on Cloudflare Workers.

GitHub Daily

GitHub Curated Picks for 2026-09-29. Lead pick: Monai.

MONAI provides an open source PyTorch framework for healthcare imaging, with tools for model training and evaluation. The verified tag release, version 1.6.1, adds a documentation note that transpose operations do not update the affine matrix.

Tart builds, runs, and manages macOS and Linux virtual machines on Apple Silicon for CI automation. The verified tag release, version 2.40.0, preserves errors when deleting a running virtual machine.

Svelte is a new way to build web applications. Svelte: web development for the rest of us. The repository records a captured commit titled ensure hydration state restoration for custom element attribute updates dated 2026-09-28.

Unciv is an open source strategy game for Android and desktop computers. The verified tag release, version 4.22.4, says the Linux launcher now has a log option. That option enables logs from the release build.

Recheck Monai releases, commits, and issue health. Compare license status and open issues before the next adoption decision.
